Principal Message

When you entered Lawrence High School in September, 1982, neither one of us was aware that we would be leaving together. I hope that your four years here have been as exciting and meaningful and rewarding as my twenty nine. I hope that you have made friends who will be there with you a lifetime later, as I have. I hope your future will be filled with love and achievement and the satisfaction that comes from knowing that you are doing the best that you can do in life.

Good luck and God bless

Dedication

On January 28, 1986, the hands of sorrow were wrapped around the world. On this day the space shuttle Challenger burst into flames, killing all seven of its crew, and dulling the human spirits of people throughout the world. A flood of emotion swept our country. Relatively unknowns until the tragedy, the astronauts represented hope. In a society where heroes are few and far between, they were our heroes. They were ordinary people taking an extraordinary risk. They were men and women of various backgrounds, coming together for a common cause—the advancement of human ingenuity. They were all special people who brought together a nation and a world. It is in the memory of Michael Smith, Dick Scobee, Ron McNair, Ellison Onizuka, Greg Jarvis, Judy Resnik, and teacher Christa McAuliffe that we dedicate this yearbook. They did not die in vain, but for the hope and human perseverance they bore into the youth of today will live on.
